

Godfrey Olsen House is a registered residential location consisting of two self-contained and two shared flats. The service offers support to people with learning disabilities, autism, cerebral palsy, acquired brain injuries and people with mental health needs.

Introducing Godfrey Olsen House

Godfrey Olsen House is situated in the town of Eastleigh situated between Southampton and Winchester. The home consists of four flats that support 6 people. Support is also given in two other flats in the community with an outreach service.

The individuals we support are encouraged by staff to lead active and fulfilling lives, maximising independence. Everyone is supported in all aspects of their lives including decision making, skill development and self-advocacy, and we will work together with every person to create an individualised support plan reflective of their current needs.

The individuals supported are encouraged to be active within their local community, accessing facilities as they choose, such as pubs and restaurants, bowling, leisure centres and cinema. People are further supported to develop their skills and learning, which can include support to attend local colleges and help seeking employment.
