

Silverdale is a four-bedroom home and is a renovated early 19th century house near the heart of the historic market town of Redruth. Silverdale stands proudly in its own grounds in the centre of Redruth, Cornwall making it the perfect location!

Introducing Silverdale

Silverdale is laid out with three upstairs flats and one downstairs. Three of the flats consist of a large bedroom, a bathroom with a bath or shower, and a lounge/dining area with a kitchenette. The fourth flat has a spacious bedroom which can also be used as a lounge/dining area with a separate kitchenette area and bathroom.

All flats have telephone points and internet access points for those that require them. There is a main kitchen downstairs, a communal dining room and a living room to encourage social interaction. There is a large garden at the front of the house for the upstairs flats, and the downstairs flat has its own separate garden at the side of the house.

About Silverdale

- The service is situated on communal grounds and is overseen by a registered manager. There is a deputy manager in place.
- We provide a high level of support to enable the individuals we support to meet their personal goals and future aspirations.
- We have vibrant and welcoming, purpose-built or adapted services. Each person who lives here has their own flat and support is designed around the individuals.
- We have vibrant and welcoming, purpose-built or adapted services. Each person who lives here has their own flat and support is designed around the individuals.
- The people we support are supported to be active members of their community.
- Residents are encouraged to be involved in making decisions about how the service is run, including arranging activities, decorating the service and days out. If the individual we support wishes, friends and family are encouraged to be involved.
